CURRENT COMMENT

Nothing can be more obvious to any one who has had the opportunity of enquire who has had the opportunity of coming in contact with the great silent body of the electorate of the people who vote and turn elections but who are slow in expressing opinions than that the great honest heart of the Great West's against this Government of graft and intrigue the name of Frank Oliver has been one to conjure with. The personality of the man, his strong position as a pioneer, as a "westerner among westerners" has given him a place in the affection of Westerners that seemed impregnable. Had Frank Oliver been true to his opportunities, then, to the principles of clean, honest, straightforward government, which at one time seemed to be his governing principle he would always have commanded the franchises of the West. Thousands of electors who did not believe in the party's political views which he supported would have voted for him solely on account of the work he had done in building up the West had it not been for his record of the past two years. To him much would have been given and of him much would have been required. He was supposed to be the clean, honest, decent Westerner, a type of rugged straight forwardness that would clean up the sink of corruption that had been left by that corrupted politician the Hon. Clifford Sifton. What has he done? In political circles he has been the most disreputable deal made in the Department of the Interior but the Hon. Frank Oliver has been its demagogue and apologist. It is not necessary to accuse him of direct participation in the profits of the railroads and we do not accuse him. But Mr. Oliver's political career as Minister of the Interior has been one continued course of infamy protection and graft apology. When the timber scandals were first exposed by Mr. A. C. Brown, the products of the documents was called for what did Mr. Oliver do? He fought the man with all the virulence of which he is a master Parliamentary usage, parliamentary decency were nothing to him. He would not allow parliament to enjoy its constitutional rights. He would not produce the documents. Now Sir Wilfrid Laurier is a politician and the West had taken up an unbecoming position. Mr. Oliver was compelled to produce the documents and the reason of his concealment became apparent. He knew that the documents would expose the graft of the timber barons. We will presume that he took his stand from sublimeness and stupidity. The public may attach a more sinister motive for his concealment. Timber is not the only pitfall of the other country. Minister of the Interior. He is directly responsible for the alienation of the fishing rights of the Western Lakes. He is possibly ashamed of it. The fact remains that he has permitted the Western Lakes can sell a fish without breaking the law. The whole thing has been handed over body, bone and spirit to heifers in the East. Then take Mr. Oliver's stand with regard to the Yukon scandal. The Rev. Mr. Fringle is a man whom all thinking men delight to honor. Yet to protect a few party hacks Mr. Oliver has flouted him and sneered at him and has blocked him at every turn. Mr. Oliver from being a man has become a mouse. From being a demagogue he has become simply a member of the present Laurier Administration an administration that history will point to as the worst in this or any other country.

The Conservative Platform

As Enunciated at Halifax and Other Places by Mr. R. L. Borden, Leader of His Majesty's Loyal Opposition in the House of Commons.

1. Honest appropriation and expenditure of public moneys in the public interest.
2. Appointment of public officials upon consideration of capacity and personal character and not of party service alone. More effective provisions to punish bribe and fraud at elections, to ensure thorough publicity as to expenditures by political organizations, to prevent the accumulation of campaign funds for corrupt purposes and to prohibit contributions thereto by corporations, contractors and promoters, to expedite hearing of election petitions and to prevent collusive arrangements the withdrawal or compromise thereof, to provide for a thorough investigation to corrupt practices and if necessary to appoint an independent prosecuting officer to enforce the laws so amended.
3. A thorough and complete reformation of the laws relating to the Civil Service so that future appointments shall be made by an independent commission acting upon the report of examiners after competitive examination.
4. Such reform in the selecting of members of the Senate as will make that chamber a more useful and representative body.
5. A more careful selection of the sources from which immigration shall be sought, a more rigid inspection of immigrants and the abolition of the bounty system except under very special circumstances and for the purpose of obtaining particularly desirable classes of immigrants.
6. The management and development of the public domain (in which are to be included great national forest tracts) for the public benefit and under such conditions that a respectable proportion of the increment of value arising therefrom shall inure to the people.
7. The operation and management of our government railways by an independent commission free from partisan control or interference.
8. Development and improvement of our national waterways the equipment of national ports, the improvement of transportation facilities and subsequent reduction of freight rates between the place of production and market, whether at home or abroad and the establishment of a thorough system of cold storage.
9. The re-organization of the present railway commission as a public utilities commission with wider power and more extended jurisdiction, so as to establish thorough and effective control over all corporations owning or operating public utilities or invested with franchises of a national character.
10. The establishment after due investigation of a system of national telegraphs and telephones under conditions which shall be just to capital already invested in those enterprises.
11. The improvement of existing postal facilities, especially newly developed portions of the country, and inauguration after proper inquiry as to cost, of a system of free rural mail.
12. A fiscal policy which will promote the production within Canada of all useful articles that can be advantageously manufactured from or by means of natural resources, having due regard to the interests of the consumer as well as to the just claims of our wage-earning population.
13. The promotion by negotiation and other constitutional means of a system of mutual preferential trade within the Empire.
14. The restoration of the public lands to the Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan upon fair terms.
15. The unimpaired maintenance of all powers of self-government which have been conferred upon the Provinces of Canada under the constitution.

RAILWAY SUBSIDIES

"If there are those in this House who think that the time has come to do away with railway subsidies I do not share that conviction." Premier Laurier in the Commons, July 16, 1908.

"Railway subsidies are a fruitful source of jobbery, speculation and corruption." Liberal platform issued with Sir Wilfrid's authority in 1895.

Apart altogether from the evils attending railway subsidies, such as the purchase of the members of parliament, boodle funds for the elections, the wholesale purchase of the approachable voter, etc., the government of Ottawa has not even had the decency to depart from that other disgraceful feature, namely, bringing down the subsidies in the dying hours of the session. Of course the Opposition might nullify this studied method of preventing discussion on the part of the members, the press and the public, by presenting a solid determined front such as they did on the Election Act, but of course they won't. The Government evidently knows the mind of the Opposition. The whole rotten business slides through, and the jobbery, the speculation, and the corruption, in spite of the work of the Liberal leaders in their days of decency, will be past, undone.

It is estimated that the addition to the bond guarantees the government is subsidizing 3,355 miles of railway. These would stretch from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and figured on the average subsidy paid, which is over $5,000 a mile, it represents a proposed outlay of $22,000,000, or including the land grants, $33,000,000.

The Conservatives cannot hope to escape criticism. If they want discussion they can take time for it.

RUN RIG

Allowing for all the partisanship which is a paramount feature of Ottawa political life, the figures presented in Mr. Foster's want of confidence motion, at Ottawa yesterday are nothing short of startling.

If the Canadian people are not alarmed over the mad reign of riotous expenditure other people are. An illustration is found in the partial failure of the loan recently floated in London. The government recently offered securities aggregating $25,000,000, drawing 3 3/4 per cent and yet less than half the amount has been taken up by investors. In 1897 the Government floated a loan of $10,000,000 bearing 2 1/2 per cent, which sold at over 91 3/4 thus making the actual rate of interest 2.86. Today a somewhat larger loan carrying nearly one per cent more of an interest charge is left in hands of the underwriters.

The conditions of the money market doubtless had something to do with the timidity of English investors, but it must also be remembered that they have been reading in the London Economist, England, that the estimates of the Ottawa government show a "staggering outlay."

RATS

These tactics of obstruction prevailed in 1894 when the Government weakly abandoned a similar measure at the threat of obstruction but we look for better things on the present occasion. If the government is not able or willing to pass through parliament necessary and desirable legislation, it confesses itself unfit to be trusted with power. — Manitoba Free Press.
